Looking at the News with Col. Hugh Clark

A lawyer argues that a man has the right to make a crazy will if he wants to. So he has, but some crazy person has the right to contest it and some judge may exercise the right to give a crazy verdict. The better plan is to make a sensible will, or none at all.

A London surgeon was fortunate enough to take a photograph of the Loch Ness monster. In the prolonged debate as to whether or not there is such a creature, this surgeon took the negative and proved the affirmative. We have often seen other debaters do the same.

To gain an education one must proceed from the known to the unknown. Having mastered the Douglas system of social credits, we purpose to tackle once more the Einstein theory of relativity. We should be able to solve it as well as we did the Douglas system.

The budget shows the condition of our finances and the necessity of finding further revenue. Relief expenditure and railway deficits have to be met, together with millions for pensions, and payment of interest. But just as soon as a tax is proposed the tumult starts and strong men cry before they know whether they are hurt at all, and if so how much.

One of the funniest criticisms we have read is that until budget day no one knew about the changes that were to be made except the Prime Minister and the Minister of Finance. We hope this criticism can always be made, otherwise there is sure to be a crop of scandals growing out of transactions made on the stock exchange that day or the day before. Many people may guess but only two should know, and there is this to be said for the honour of our public men that at no time was it even suspected that the two who should and did know had taken advantage of their knowledge to profit by the sale or purchase of shares effected by tariff or tax changes.

One would think that men who draw large dividends from the big gold-producers would be ashamed to ask the Finance Minister for relief from the gold tax. They profited from the premium on the American dollar, and they profit still from the increased price of gold arbitrarily made by Presidential decree. They expect now that that price will be still further increased. Whatever objection may reasonably be made by the smaller mines, no objection can reasonably be made by men connected with Lake Shore, Macintyre, Dome and other big mines. Many shareholders in these mines live in the United States. We have heard no complaints from them. The howls come from Canadians.

In the past fiscal year the Dominion government collected more than twenty-four million dollars in taxes on tobacco, two-thirds of it on cigarettes. The men and women, boys and girls who smoke paid it without a murmur. Anyone of them can avoid it by giving up smoking, and the grown-up babies who made such a howl over the gold impost can escape the ten per cent tax by selling their gold holdings.

GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. V. S. Cole, long residents of Reid Hill and Vulcan, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on April 30, at their suburban home in Salem, Oregon. Their only daughter, Gladys Cole Kosko, who lives in Oakland, California, was unable to attend the celebration. Many friends gathered to compliment the couple and present them with a gift. A radio number dedicated to them was enjoyed in the afternoon. A cafeteria dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock. Among those who gathered to compliment Mr. and Mrs. Cole were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gardiner and daughters La Vaun Gardiner, (Mrs.) Jewel Brinkley, and Mrs. Cora Rose, all formerly of Vulcan.

PANCAKE FEED

A dish fit for a king will be served by the Vulcan Y.P.S. at the United Church hall during the afternoon of May 24th—pancakes and maple syrup with coffee. Those attending the Victoria Day celebration will welcome the rest and good eats by attending this "Feed" any time during the day from 3 till 7 p.m. Mrs. Wm. Peterson will be the head chef and her helpers will provide all the pancakes you can eat. See the advertisements for further particulars.

WORLD TRAVELLER HEARD IN VULCAN

Series of Five Lectures Delivered by C. B. Nance-Kivell, B. Litt., World Traveller

Mr. C. B. Nance-Kivell, B. Litt., world traveller, at present minister of the Central Christian Church, Calgary, concluded his five day series of lectures on Tuesday evening. Citizens of Vulcan received the series of lectures well as the large attendance and general interest indicated. His first address on Friday evening was on the subject of "The World's Debt to Jesus Christ," proved very interesting. "Jesus is not only one of the world's greatest reformers, He is the world's only Saviour," said the speaker.

"What makes a man a man," was the subject of Saturday evening's lecture in which the speaker dealt with the wonderful body of man, its composition and its various parts. He stressed the point that it was character that makes a man a man.

"War or Peace" created a great deal of controversy among the members of the audience on Monday evening. The speaker stressed the economic argument, the cost being incomprehensible. If money spent on war was expended on constructive works this would indeed be a happy and contented world. The concluding lecture on Tuesday evening was entitled "Australia and the Blacks." Mr. Nance-Kivell dealt with the southern continent geographically, politically, educationally and morally. He predicted that Australia will emerge a great and grand country and nation in the near future.

Mr. Nance-Kivell is one of the best lecturers heard in this territory. So much was his visit appreciated that he was invited to visit Vulcan again at some future date. The invitation is being sincerely considered and the hope is expressed that his return visit will occur very shortly.

While in town Mr. Nance-Kivell was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Errett King. He was also entertained at many of the homes while in town.

M. D. ROYAL MEETING

Councillors of the Municipal District of Royal met in the office in Vulcan on Saturday for the May session of the council. All were present. The business session was a short one. It was decided that all help at the grass hopper poison station be residents of the municipality. W. Munro of Kirkcaldy was appointed weed inspector for the season, duties to commence on May 15th. A number of accounts were passed for payment. Wages for road work were set the same as last year, i.e. man and four horses $6.00 per day; man and two horses $2.50 per day; dragging at 60 cts. per mile. Decision was made to order a carlot of lumber.

GOODWILL MESSAGE RECEIVED FROM SCHOOLS OF DISTRICT

Mrs. M. L. Todd, convener of the League of Nations Society for this constituency of the Women's Institute has at hand all the Goodwill messages of the schools in this district. Response was not as gratifying as it could have been, but many exceptionally well written letters were received. From these letters the following letter has been gleaned, and this one will be sent to the children of other lands via radio, and will be broadcast over a Calgary station on World's Goodwill Day, May 18th. The letter reads: "Dear Boys and Girls of the World: Here is a greeting of Goodwill and Peace from the children of many rural schools in Alberta, Canada. No matter where we live, all children are comrades. Our message to you asks that we build together a peace foundation for the world. We can maintain World Peace if we earnestly strive to cleanse our hearts of resentment against every person whom we think has injured us and to imbue in our hearts the commandment given us by the great teacher, Christ—'Love ye one another.' May we, children of all nations, know that we are links in His Golden Chain of Love." Mrs. Todd wishes to thank the schools, their teachers and pupils who make the message possible.

High School League Opened Locally Wed.

Champion, Carmangay, Barons and Vulcan High Schools Join in League For Season

The High School baseball loop opened play recently with Vulcan playing at Champion and Barons playing at Carmangay. Visiting teams won the games. Locally the league opens today (Wednesday) when the Carmangay boys will invade the town. The Vulcan boys are under the management of Doug Allred, who also does the coaching. The community are urged to support this team, the only one the town will have this season. All the players are High School boys and they are shaping up splendidly and will provide Vulcan with baseball in future years. With this point in view they need all the encouragement and support of the entire community, and the way to do this is to turn out for every game. Blackie has built up a splendid baseball team in the past five years in just this manner, starting with high school lads and shaping them into seniors. Vulcan can do this same thing—it is up to you.

The High School baseball team is a division of the High School Athletic Association. The winner of the league will be presented with a handsome trophy in the form of a silver cup donated by the Vulcan Athletic Association.

Coming games in the league schedule are: May 18th, Barons at Vulcan; Champion at Carmangay. May 25th, Carmangay at Barons, Champion at Vulcan. June 1st, Barons at Champion; Vulcan at Carmangay. June 8th, Vulcan at Barons; Carmangay at Champion.

KIRKCALDY NEWS

Miss Kathleen Colwell has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Boose during the past week.

Miss Annie Hobbs of the municipal hospital, was a visitor at the Markert home Wednesday.

Irene Fox is looking after the Saunders' children while Mrs. Saunders is confined to the hospital.

Mrs. Eddie McLean and small daughter, have returned to Rockyford after spending the past month in the district.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Lawrie and family, spent Sunday visiting friends in the Ardenode and Rockyford districts.

S. Colwell has had two men employed for the past few days cleaning out his elevator annex preparatory to having a cut-off.

Mrs. W. J. Saunders underwent a serious operation in the Vulcan hospital Wednesday morning. Dr. Burke of Blackie being in attendance. Latest reports were highly favorable. Her many friends trust she will make rapid improvement.

The Kirkcaldy school board held their monthly meeting in the schoolhouse Monday evening, the secretary and all trustees being present. Business of a routine nature was transacted, and a court of revision was also held.

Seeding in this district is 100 per cent. completed. Seeding operations have been very rapid but the warm weather which has made this operation so favorable, also had the effect of hatching millions of young grasshoppers. In parts of this vicinity, the road allowances and stubble fields are badly infested and unless some unforeseen thing occurs, a real outbreak can be anticipated.

News Items Gleaned Around the Town

Last week was clean-up week in town and by the appearance of the yards and boulevards the residents responded to the advice of the council. During the week, men under employment of the town cleaned up debris from every street.

All members of the school board of Vulcan School District No. 1902 were present for the monthly session of the board held on Monday evening. General discussion on school matters was read. A number of accounts were read and passed for payment. The meeting was a short one.

The regular group meetings of the Central Ladies' Aid will be held on Wednesday, May 24th, at the following members' homes: Group No. 1, at the home of Mrs. Lockhart; group 2, at the home of Mrs. Craig; group 3, at the home of Mrs. Lebeau; and group 4 at the home of Mrs. Little. All members are requested to attend the meeting of their respective group.

Last Thursday, manager Robson of the Vulcan Theatre installed the latest in motion picture screens in the local theatre. It is a beaded porous rubber screen and is of the same type as used in the city theatres throughout the country. Audiences at the week end and Tuesday evening shows have commented on the improvement of the picture being much clearer, and bringing the illusion of the third dimension, depth.

The growth of trees in the town has been remarkable this season and the appearance of the boulevards as one drives through the streets is pleasing to see. The citizens are responding well to the orders of the town council in caring for the trees in front of their property, and this combined with the early spring season has made Vulcan a beauty spot.

Golfing is a popular sport in town this season with about forty members in the club. At that the club has to go a long way yet to duplicate the record of the Staveland club. It boasts over a 100 members and the fees are $2.00 higher than in Vulcan. The golfing fairways are in splendid shape and the greens have never been better. Frank Rutten is in charge of the grounds this season.

Lacrosse sticks arrived on Saturday and a large number of men interested in the sport, turned out on Sunday for the first practice at the game. Great interest is being shown and everybody is keyed up in anticipation for the game on Victoria Day between the Calgary Shamrocks and Lethbridge. Vulcan players will be given an opportunity to show their wares on that evening, as will players from Nanton.

Weather for the past week has been fair and warm with scattered showers falling throughout the district on Friday. In town the Searle Grain rain gauge measured .17 inches of moisture for the day. No wind storms have made appearance this week and the crops have made remarkable growth and have not looked better for years at this time of the season. Although they are not suffering from lack of moisture, yet a week's cool weather with rainfall would greatly assist in combating the grasshoppers, which are hatching fast, and are presenting a real menace to the crops. Poison bait is being spread by many farmers at the present moment.

Mixing poison dope for the grasshopper menace started last week in the Municipal District of Royal. The bait station is situated in the curling rink portion of the arena, as last year. Although the quantity of poison taken out to the farms was small last week, the portion continues to increase with every warm day. Tuesday saw a "run" on the bait and the mixers were busy all day. In talking with the farmers at the station, the Advocate reporter learns that the "hoppers" are hatching rapidly, especially in the stubble fields and on the roadsides. To the south of town and towards the Kirkcaldy district they are appearing in large numbers. A real heavy rain within the week would help greatly in combating the pest.

WHY FARMERS IN DISTRESS

Under the above heading the Searle Grain Company publishes another bulletin on a comparison of prices between what the farmer has to buy and what he has to sell. The basic years on which these comparisons are founded are the years 1913-14. The April prices of wheat were 66 per cent. of the 1913 prices; cattle were 79 per cent. and hogs 95 per cent. On the other hand the things the farmer has to buy (146 items) are 27.6 per cent. higher than in 1913-14.

"As we have frequently pointed out," says the bulletin, "if a bushel of wheat bought a shirt in 1913, it would now take two bushels of wheat to buy the shirt. This means that farmers are able to buy only half the shirts and other articles of pre-war years. And this in turn means that half the workers who make articles for farmers are out of employment."

"When a bushel of wheat will exchange on the average for the same quantity of goods and services as in 1913, then depression will be over in the west."

"A study of unemployment has shown that about one-half of those not working today are normally employed in the manufacture of durable goods. Not such goods as foodstuffs, clothes, tobacco, gasoline and such daily needs but in such articles as people do economize on. That is, houses, roads, buildings, furniture, tools, farm implements, plumbing tools, lumber, barbed wire, etc."

"Added to this the majority of the other half of the unemployed are those normally engaged in the transportation and distribution of these durable goods, or in the producing the raw material for their manufacture."

"For every man put to work on these 'durable' goods, there will be new demand for consumption of goods."

"No class of people is more in need of the durable goods than the western farmer, and the raise of his buying power would automatically put these workers back into employment."

"Although the average prices of 146 items in the Searle index are 27.6 per cent. higher than in 1914, there are 24 items that are as low as in pre-war years. These include incubators, roping, team harness, leather mitts, sweaters, women's dresses and shoes, children's shoes, beans, flour, tomatoes, jam, lumber, etc."

NATIVE SONS OF CANADA

Canada has probably as little national spirit as any nation in the world, and in this day of ultra nationalism, it is something of a relief to find a people living placidly, but with no great intensity of feeling regarding their native land. On the other hand there is a tendency on the part of many living in Canada, to resent the activity of "native" organizations. Strangely enough, there is the prejudice that something impertinent and disloyal is afoot when the native expresses an all Canadian viewpoint.

Despite this discouragement the Native Sons of Canada have developed into a strong coast to coast organization—right here in Canada.

They have recently memorialized the nation in a program devoted to the "advancement of Canada for Canadians."

They believe that greater emphasis should be put on Canadian subjects in Canadian schools and that Canadian history and geography be master subjects; that the control of money and credit as a commodity should be in the hands of the National government to guarantee just prices under fluctuating economic conditions; that the banking system of Canada should be reorganized to bring coinage, currency, credit and banking under Canadian government control; that Canadians should be taught that since the passing of the Statute of Westminster in 1931, Canada is equal in status and power to the United Kingdom and other nations.

Pursuing still further the conviction that Canadian preference should be quite within reason in Canada, the organization sets forth that whereas it is believed that at present at least 40 per cent. of the civil servants of Canada were born outside of Canada, this situation be amended so that preference be given Canadian born. It is believed to be in the interests of Canada, that the Civil Service be Canadian in thought and outlook.

It is believed that Canada should have a distinctively Canadian flag, that Canada should have direct power to draw and amend the Canadian constitution, that appeals to civil and criminal matters should be only to Canadian courts.

There are features of the platform touching on other matters, urging that in the event of Canada participating in a war, there should be conscription of wealth and material resources in addition to conscription of men; that there should be fair play for all in labor fields, and that industries protected by tariffs should be subject to inspection as to relation of wages paid to profits made. Amongst other policies is the belief that since idleness is fatal to individuals; and a generation is growing up for whom no work can be found therefore the governments should supply work in exchange for relief and that wherever possible the fair wage principle be recognized.

WHO SHOULD BE TAXED

The Clinton News-Record hits the nail on the head when it advocates the taxing of the man who lets his property go to wreck rather than the man who keeps his property in good condition. As it is at present, the man who employs the painter and the carpenter to make his place more attractive, and who thus improves the appearance of the whole neighborhood, is penalized by increased taxation, while the man who allows his property to become an eyesore, and thus decreases the value of his neighbors' property is encouraged in his neglect by reduced taxation. Some day the people will wake up and demand a radical change in the assessment law and Revision Courts, as has been the case in Whitby on several occasions, will absolutely refuse to help a man who lets his property run down.—Whitby Gazette.

COMMENDED FOR VALOR

If awards of merit were in order for peace time valor, Hon. H. H. Stevens would be a medal winner. He has courageously pursued investigation into big business, regardless of what or who is being exposed. Although the remedy for violations of fair dealing has not yet been arrived at, Mr. Stevens has uncovered and exposed some of the more glaring injustices under which employees suffer in the interests of more dividends. This has taken more courage than any government was given credit for possessing.

His latest investigation has brought the plight of the Ontario tobacco grower to the public attention. The statements of growers show that the tobacco in a 25 cent package of cigarettes gives the grower 1 1/2 cts. The price to the actual producer is hammered down to below cost of production, while the consumer pays the same as usual. What Mr. Stevens has been trying to find out is where the rest of the money goes. Apparently it goes to pay shareholders' dividends, and pay capital on stock in companies that have been over-capitalized. Stockholders must have their profits and dividends must be paid, so the tobacco grower is the sacrifice. Allowing for the heavy government tax on tobacco, the farmer has a very active curiosity in the distribution of 15 cents in that 25 cent package of cigarettes. He gets 1 1/2 cents of it. To whom does the remaining 13 1/2 cents go? How is it accounted for? This is also what Mr. Stevens wanted to know, when he said the revelations of the situation of the growers vs. Imperial Tobacco Company, challenged Parliament and would have to be cleared up.

The evidence bears considerable resemblance to that brought out in the packer's investigation. The spread between what the consumer pays and the producer gets, challenges the suspicion of the public. There is too wide a gap.

BANDITS STILL LOOSE

Lieut. Col. George Drew of Ontario Securities Commission, is one of the men appointed to safeguard the public from being victimized by fraudulent promoters, and sellers of bogus stocks. He refers to these modern exploiters as "white collared bandits," and comments "the inescapable fact remains that there is no statutory substitute for common sense."

It would seem reasonable that after the smash of 1929, the public would be very wary of stocks and shares in projects of which they know nothing. But apparently, human nature does not change even under bitter experience, and the desire in man is as strong as ever to secure easy money. In fact, the desire may only have been whetted by the privations and restrictions of the past few years.

In Ontario, strict laws are being enacted to protect the public and the high pressure bandits, under the vigorous sleuthing of Col. Drew and others of the Commission, are playing a difficult game—a game which would be made impossible if the people would investigate before they invest.

The popular approach is by telephone, and so broad is the field of "suckers" that Alberta people have received urgent long distance phone calls from Toronto, "tipping them off" to something very good if they would immediately respond. One organization in Toronto had 200,000 prospective easy marks throughout Ontario, on their list for approach.

People in the West are probably not quite so subject to the perpetual appeal. But no doubt it would be found that thousands of dollars in this district have gone into worthless stocks, merely on the representations of a smart stranger. And the heavy losses in wheat gambling should serve as a hard-learned lesson.

But have they so served, or is the public so eager to pursue the will 'o' wisp of easy money, that governments are unable to safeguard them from themselves.

CALGARY POWER FRANCHISE

In 1936, the franchise between the town and the Calgary Power Company will have expired. It is not too soon for citizens to turn their minds to a consideration of this franchise, and whether or not it is to the advantage of the town to renew it.

These years have undoubtedly been profitable for the Power Company, as borne out by their consistently flourishing financial statements. Unlike the vast majority of their customers, they have been able to declare dividends even in recent trying years. They have stuck firmly to the letter of their contract, regardless of the falling incomes of consumers. Inability to meet the monthly cost of light or power, has resulted in prompt discontinuance of service so that losses have been cut to a minimum—a policy that few businesses have the heart to pursue. They have cut "operating expenses," which may mean that salaries have been reduced. They make no gesture in the way of providing adjustment service for individual customers. Any profits which may accrue are not shared to any degree by the town. The many thousands of dollars which are collected every year from the town, leave it forever, having no local circulation. Needless to say, the fact that the Company has failed to recognize the distressing economic conditions of the past four years, has tended to make the public more critical.

There is no criticism of the service of the Power Company. It has been very good. But the question that is stirring in the minds of local people, is whether or not as good service could be furnished the town more cheaply with a return to municipal ownership. Doubtless the Council, in view of the expiration of the franchise in less than two years, is informing itself of any alternative scheme, and gathering data on power schemes throughout the Dominion. Citizens—feel this matter deserves close study.

TWO ACCIDENTS

"Go down to James Street and get the dope on this explosion," said the editor to his cub reporter. "And when you write your story, keep it brief. Boil it down to the net facts."

A few hours later the cub handed in this: "John Smith at the cotton mill wanted to speed up the engine. He screwed down the pop valve on the boiler. Age 41."

And on another occasion: "Rastus Johnson accidentally drove his car in a parade of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. He would have been 39 years old next September."

HOPE U S MARKET FOR BEEF CATTLE

It is currently recognized that Secretary Henry Wallace of United States favors a lowering of tariffs, and inclines to internationalism as opposed to nationalism.

In the May issue of the Farm and Ranch Review, the editorial page offers a shadow of hope for Canadian cattle trade. The publication says:

"President Roosevelt is moving energetically toward obtaining power to vary import tariffs substantially, so as to facilitate international trade through bargaining with other countries. Doubtless he has Canada chiefly in mind. The present administration at Washington realizes keenly, that the present foreign policy of that country is altogether wrong. It has been developed under the 'debtor' complex, while the United States is now the chief 'creditor' country in the world; a face, which has had no visible influence on her trade policies so far.

"As soon as these discretionary powers are legally vested in the President, the way is open to gain admittance to the United States' market for our beef cattle by Canada making proper concessions on her part. This will undoubtedly be done. The British market for beef is, and always will be, a low price market for Canada. It has been useful only as an emergency outlet. No effort should be spared to re-establish our beef trade with the United States at the earliest possible moment."

PERPETUAL PENSIONS

England is paying a number of perpetual pensions that were granted more than 250 years ago by King Charles II. In some cases there is no record of the name of the original recipient or the reason for the grant. Some of these pensions have been bought up by the government, one bringing its hereditary owner more than $3,000,000.

WET GAS BURSTS FROM HIGHWOOD

Bursting from only twenty-two feet in the limestone, the Highwood-Sarcee had a great wet gas flow developing early Sunday morning. The rush of wet gas lifted the tools high in the air. All crews were rushed to get the tools clear, and this was done under difficulties as rocks and gasoline were descending in showers.

Wellington to Sell

Agreement with the Royalite Oil Company, Limited, whereby Royalite will pay $100,000 in cash to the Wellington well and equipment and limestone rights on the ten-acre Wellington lease in South Turner Valley has been announced by R. A. Brown, president of the Wellington Oils, Limited.

Wellington will retain gold properties at Two Brothers' River, British Columbia and in the Cariboo. It also will continue to hold royalties on Anacanda No. 2 and Hylo No. 1 production. The company is also interested in the Pekisko Hills well being drilled near the Prince of Wales' ranch at High River.

McLeod May Sell

The McLeod Oil Company, one of the oldest independent companies in Turner Valley, may be the next company to make a deal with Royalite for the sale of its Turner Valley wells according to the Calgary Herald.

An official admitted that negotiations were under way, but said no definite proposals had been made by Royalite.

Mr. J. V. McAree selects the Oxford Dictionary as one of the very best books ever printed, and yet we venture to say it has flatly and frequently contradicted him when he thought he was right. But he is used to that. He has often been contradicted even when he knew he was wrong.

A Brooklyn judge ruled that "Go to hell" is not an order or a prophecy, but merely a declaration. We very seldom use it but when we do it is mandatory. We are bound to say, however, that our orders are not acted upon with the alacrity we could wish.

A man who commits a crime in the United States is wise to stay there. It is his only chance of escape. He is bound to be caught if he ventures abroad. The Insul brothers have learned that, and did you notice that Dillinger did not try to come to Canada.

"Do as your dentist does," says an advertisement. How can anyone do that when his mouth is stuffed with cotton batting?

John F. Curry, chief of Tammany, was not deposed because he did anything wrong. He was deposed because he no longer had any patronage to distribute among the boys. He was on the losing side when the Democrats were selecting a candidate for the Presidency, a candidate for State Governor and a candidate for Mayor of New York City. He lost the elections, lost the patronage and lost his job.

One of his predecessors, Boss Tweed, ordered things better. One of his henchmen was driving him around the city with a horse and buggy "Boss," said the henchman, "in this precinct, at the last election, we polled four hundred per cent. of the total registered vote."

Among those who were thought to be down and out, but who made a come-back, place the horse. The tractor stands in the implement shop or in a fence panel while the horse recovers his job as breaker of the soil. The trouble with the tractor is that the initial cost added too much to the overhead and it lived on gasoline that the farm does not produce. Moreover it does not reproduce its kind as the horse does. In the business of staging a spectacular come-back, Marie Dressler has nothing on Old Dobbin. Goldwin Smith thought he might live to see the last horse, but the Professor is dead while the horse is alive and in demand.

The Financial Times says: "That Walt Disney picture in which the grasshopper sings, 'Oh! The World Owes Us a Living' is not likely to be very popular in the Prairie Provinces this summer."—Calgary Herald.

VULCAN VISITOR

Hon. O. L. McPherson, accompanied by Mrs. McPherson was a caller in Vulcan last week. The minister was returning from a visit of inspection to the provincial jail at Lethbridge, and a general survey of roads along the route. He found conditions at the jail satisfactory, with spring work well on its way.

When asked about new road projects and public works schemes in the province, Mr. McPherson said that matters were absolutely at a standstill until the Federal Government gives some indication of what its "modest Public Works program" may mean. At the time of speaking, no hint had been given from Ottawa on which the provincial Public Works Dept. could plan or hope. It was expected, however, that Premier Brownlee now in Ottawa, would elicit some information. Mr. Brownlee was urgent as to the benefit of a public works allotment as emergency relief. Details are eagerly awaited.

"If there is no substantial development from Ottawa, there will be no new construction and a reduction in maintenance" said Mr. McPherson.

Although he faced the possibility that the Dominion Public Works program might be purely Federal in operation and control, extending only to Federal undertakings in the East and in cities, the speaker was keenly alive to the advantages of some provincial-municipal for public works. He stated that deputations had arrived during the session, almost daily, pressing the need for road programs in various parts of the program. Some of these were worthy, all indicated at least a local need. "It is obvious," he stated, "that expenditure on road maintenance is essential at the present time, if the foundation of our roads is to be preserved. There are numerous deserving undertakings through the province, which if made possible through Federal support, would circulate money through the districts, give employment, and at the same time provide a permanent value." He concluded by saying that these things hung in the balance until Ottawa declared its intentions.

Referring to the proposed High River-Hartell road, Mr. McPherson said that this matter, as in the case of other projects, was "dependent" to a great extent on the amount of allotment, if any, granted by the Federal government.

LOWDOWN ON WHO GETS SMOKE PROFIT

The Imperial Tobacco Company of Montreal during the last five years made profits of $32,477,100; added $3,748,000 in profits from its subsidiaries; paid $1,861,900 in salaries to six executives, and reduced prices to tobacco growers 50 per cent., it was shown last week before the parliamentary mass buying committee.

The Imperial controlled about 70 per cent. of the total tobacco trade of Canada, Mr. Miller testified. Of cigarettes, the company controlled 75 per cent.; cut tobacco, 66 per cent.; plug tobacco, 49 per cent.; snuff, 97 per cent.; small cigars, 91 per cent.; and cigars, 57 per cent.

In the United States, Mr. Miller told the committee counsel, the average price for cigarettes was 15 cents a package. The excise was six cents, leaving nine cents to be distributed among the grower, manufacturer, jobber, and retailer.

In Canada, 20 cigarettes sold for 20 cents. The excise tax was eight cents, and the sales tax one cent. This left 11 cents for distribution from the grower to the retailer. On a package of 25 cigarettes there was 13 9-10 cents left for distribution.

SOME INSECTS BENEFIT MANKIND

Gardeners Should Know Good From Evil Amongst Beetles

All insects are not pests, as Mr. R. H. Handford, of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, pointed out the other day to the Brandon Horticultural Society. We are so much in the habit of considering only our insect pests, he said, that we seldom think of our insect allies. If we stop to think, we shall soon realize that there are many species of beneficial insects. Honey, shellac, and some types of dyes are insect productions we should not care to be without. In some places, insects in various stages are used particularly as food. The beneficial insects that concern us most at this particular time, however, are those that destroy insect pests. One of our best aids in the destruction of plant lice is the ladybird beetle. Both the adults and larvae of these insects feed on plant lice, and the adults at least have been known to feed on insects in other stages, especially the eggs. Another insect of importance is one of the ground beetles, called the fiery hunter. This is a large black beetle with rows of coppery spots down its back. It feeds on a considerable number of other insects.

The larvae of another ground beetle has recently come into prominence as a destroyer of grasshopper eggs. The larvae of the beetle is another insect friend that destroys enormous numbers of grasshopper eggs. Similarly various species of blister beetles, which are so destructive in their mature stage, produce young that are amongst our most important aids in our struggle against grasshoppers. Then, too, there are the insect parasites. Most of these, though not all, are related to the wasps. Some species lay their eggs in cutworms and other caterpillars, the resulting larvae feeding inside the caterpillar until mature, at which time the caterpillar dies. The parasite then pupates either inside or outside the dead caterpillar and later emerges as a fully developed insect capable of laying eggs in still other insect pests. Every gardener should become acquainted with the different species of beneficial insects, so that in their control operations they may destroy as few of these helpful allies as possible.

The bright spot in Canada's livestock industry in 1933 was pigs, says Son. Robt. Weir. In 1931 Canada was last out of nine countries exporting bacon to the U.K. In 1933 she took fourth place beaten by Denmark, the Netherlands and Poland. Favorable comments on the quality of Canadian bacon are now common in England.

The Searle grain summarizes factors tending to raise grain prices as follows: adverse conditions in U. S. wheat areas, overestimate on last year's Russian crop, shortest Argentine corn crop since 1925, steady decrease world visible supply. The factors tending to lower prices are, rapid progress Russian seeding, increased Indian estimate, improvement European crops by rain and increase in U. S. winter wheat estimates.

REDUCTION ON FREIGHT RATES

A reduction in first-class freight rates on the basis of six cents per 100 pounds, to apply to all points between Calgary and Montreal, both east and west, has been approved by both transportation companies, according to an announcement by Alberta branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

A reduction of two cents per 100 pounds in fifth class freight has also been authorized. The new rate became effective Saturday, May 5.

ANOTHER RACKET

New York citizens are engaged in a fight to end a poultry "racket" which costs the city housekeepers $16,000,000 a year. Here is the racket that is being worked through the markets, not only in New York but in other cities. Country poultrymen from Maine to Virginia have been compelled to deliver their poultry in coops worth $2 at factory, for which they must pay $1 rental each time. Each coop is used about 1500 times in a year. Poultry handlers are also forced to buy their feed from the racketeers at 50 cents a bag above market price.

RECEIVE MEAGRE SUM

From Wheat Pool bulletin:—Last year some 250,000 wheat farmers in the prairie provinces raised 250 million bushels of wheat. Of this volume some 190 million have been delivered to market. The average net price obtained was 44 cents. This means that if the entire income from wheat sales was distributed evenly each farmer received the meagre sum of $334.00. Out of this the cost of tilling the soil, seeding, harvesting, threshing, handling and selling had to be deducted. This simple sum in arithmetic shows what has been happening to the farming industry of the west. Sweatshop labor was never so poorly paid. Bankruptcy and ruin are inevitable when such conditions exist for long.

The new crop of spring lambs have gone on the market too light, says the Market Examiner.
